Energy & excitement were key components of the celebration as official addresses were made by Chilliwack's Deputy Mayor, Chuck Stam, HHG Managing Partner, Heath Stone, Hilton Worldwide Director of Development for Western Canada, Ryan McRae, and CEPCO Vice-President, James Donaldson. Another special event highlight was the generous presentation of a $10,000 cheque to the Chilliwack Optimist Club on behalf of Station 8050 and the following suppliers and vendors who contributed to the Construction for Kids initiative: Odessa, Tier Contracting, Keystone Architecture, Lang Engineering, Rempel Brothers Concrete, Wedler Engineering, Pan Pacific Quadling Quarry, Heppner Trucking, Kuiler Contracting, Tunbridge & Tunbridge, Alfa Concrete Pumping, Valley Tank & Container, Blackwood Home Hardware, Daryl Wear Contracting, and Gidney Signs. "We strongly believe in giving back to the communities in which we build," commented Nathan Stone, "and recognize the value of the programs provided by the Chilliwack Optimist Club."

Project media presentations and site tours provided guests with a clearer vision of the Station 8050 project and how it will benefit the Chilliwack community. "We are excited to launch the first of several hotel projects throughout the Fraser Valley right here in Chilliwack", said Heath Stone. "Several regional and national franchise brands will be coming to Station 8050 where the Chilliwack community can conveniently Eat, Work, and Stay."

Even the sun came out to shine on the event and guests while they enjoyed the celebrations and a delicious lunch prepared by Crave Catering.
